Predictors of Success: A multivariable approach to aid student selection and progression through the BVetMed course – Interim Report

Dave Brodbelt, Margaret Kilyon, Scott Wildman, Nigel Goode

July 2009.

The project is moving forward and final data collection and entry is underway. The team has met on a number of occasions and identified all data elements required. Some additional data entry was identified (GCSE results) and these data are currently being entered manually from the paper records. The formatting of other data and collation from multiple sources is in progress also. Anonymised data will then be available for analysis.

The intention is to analyse up to and including the cohort graduating 2009, including the September resit element. All data should be entered by the time of these resits and then analysis can begin after that date.
